You first start the chat by typing anything into the message dialog box. This will activate the bot which will prompt you with routes of conversation you may take. 3 routes are provided, namely FAQs, How do I use AI?, and Related skills courses for AI.

If you choose FAQs, you will be prompted to select one from a multiple choice list of 17 questions, once you receive answer, it will be cited and related AI concepts will also be given. You will then be asked if you have any more questions with 3 options, yes, yes I have a different follow up question, and no. “yes” will take you back to the start of all the conversation flows, “yes I have a different follow up question” will prompt you to ask a question which will receive and answer for and be looped back to the point when you were asked if you have any more questions to pick another question until you are satisfied with the conversation.

If you choose “How can I use AI?” it will give you types of personal AI usage and asked if you would like to know any related AI concepts regarding personal AI usage. You will then be directed to say if you have any more questions, if yes you will be looped back to the start of the conversation flow to pick another question, if you choose having a different follow up question you will be prompted to type it and it will be answered and you will be directed back to “if you have any more questions” until you are satisfied with the conversation.

If you choose related skills courses, you will be prompted to answer what type of skills you are looking to learn, and then you will be given Coursera recommended courses based on your answer. You will then be directed to say if you have any more questions, if yes you will be looped back to the start of the conversation flow to pick another question, if you choose having a different follow up question you will be prompted to type it and it will be answered and you will be directed back to “if you have any more questions” until you are satisfied with the conversation
